PAGE'S AUGUST PUBLICATIONS

AN IMPORTANT NOVEL

THE LAST WORD

By ALICE MacGOWAN

Library 12mo, Cloth, Gilt Top, Illustrated, $1.50

A brilliant and original novel, bubbling over with life and humor, buoyant with youth and courage, picturesque in local color, and powerful in the intensity of its emotional interest. It is a picture, now amusing and again serious, of some of the phases of New York as seen through the fresh, keen eyes of a young girl from the broad prairies of the Southwest and at the same time a strong, vigorous love story, deriving its exceptional interest from the character drawing of two richly endowed natures, at the outset in conflict with each other.

A NEW NOVEL BY
MARIE CORELLI

"Temporal Power"

A Study in Supremacy

By

MARIE CORELLI

*Author of "The Master Christian,"
"The Sorrows of Satan," etc.*

Messrs. Dodd, Mead & Company take pleasure in announcing that they have now in press, and will publish on August 28th, this important new story by Miss Corelli. The book is a singularly striking and powerful one, dealing with a subject which has never before been treated in fiction, and intimately touching upon certain topics which have for some time been uppermost in the minds of many people. While it is announced as a romance of the ruling passion, the author desires it to be known that it does not treat of the ruling passion of the Pope, but of a still more powerful potentate. This is the first story Miss Corelli has written since the publication of "The Master-Christian," and will probably be as widely discussed a book as that novel. The author, herself, says that "Temporal Power" is the strongest book she has ever written.

NOTES IN SEASON.

JAMES POTT & CO. have in preparation a new book by John Goldworth Alger, entitled "Paris, 1789-1794." Nearly twenty years' study, not merely of the latest publications on the subject, but of a mass of manuscripts mostly uncanceled in the national archives, enables the author to throw new light on the French Revolution.

LONGMANS, GREEN & CO. will publish a new book of historical research by Andrew Lang, entitled "James VI. and the Gowrie Conspiracy." The Gowrie Conspiracy took place in 1600, and its sequel is the affair of Logan of Restalrig in 1608-9. Mr. Lang has studied contemporary manuscripts hitherto unpublished, and he believes that one point is at any rate demonstrated—the innocence of James VI. Among the illustrations of the book are facsimile reproductions of the disputed letters of the plot.

L. C. PAGE & CO. have just ready "The Best of Stevenson," selections from Robert Louis Stevenson's "Will of the Mill," "Virginibus Puerisque," etc., with a bibliography of Stevenson's writings edited by Alexander Jessup; also, a third series of that excellent collection of college verse—"Cap and Gown," by L. L. Paget. They will publish shortly a novel by Alice MacGowan, entitled "The Last Word," which gives a picture of some of the phases of New York as seen through the fresh, keen eyes of a young girl from the broad prairie of the southwest.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO. will publish on the 27th inst. a volume of poems by Ellen Glasgow, author of "The Battleground," a number of which will be familiar to readers of the Atlantic Monthly and other periodicals. In October they will bring out an illustrated edition of Miss Glasgow's "Voice of the People." They have in preparation a book on "Weddings," in which Mrs. Burton Kingsland will digest and codify the unwritten laws on the subject. The book will be illustrated with photographs of large weddings of recent date to give an exact idea of how the thing must be done.

THE CENTURY COMPANY have in preparation another volume of engravings by Timothy Cole, to be entitled "Old English Masters," which will have text from Mr. Cole's own notes and by Professor John C. Van Dyke. The volume will contain Mr. Cole's engravings of the work of the English school, including Hogarth, Reynolds, Gainsborough, Turner and Landseer. For eighteen years Mr. Cole has been engaged in reproducing upon wood, for The Century Magazine and his books, the work of the great masters of the world. He has already covered the art of Italy, Holland, Flanders and England, and is now working upon the Spanish school.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in preparation two volumes of essays by the late John Fiske, that were left completed and ready for the press before the author's death. The contents of the volumes will be Thomas Hutchinson, last Royal Governor of Massachusetts; Charles Lee, the soldier of fortune; Alexander Hamilton; Thomas Jefferson, the conservative reformer; James Madison, the constructive statesman; Andrew Jackson, frontiersman and soldier; Andrew Jackson, and American Democracy sixty years ago; "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too;" Daniel Webster; "Old and New Ways of Treating History;" "The Boston Tea Party;" "Evolution and the Present Age;" John Milton; John Tyndall; "Koschei the Deathless;" "The Story of a New England Town;" "Reminiscences of Huxley."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Beginning with the issue of July 5, 1902, the titles of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The titles of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. Net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price. ¶

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; m. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

The aim of the author has been primarily that of furnishing a guide for the use of students of American history in high schools, academies or normal schools. The book will be found useful also to teachers who wish a thorough preparation in American history, or helpful suggestions in methods of teaching the subject. The "library" and "source" methods have been combined, and complete references given in connection with each topic. The book contains topical outlines together with research questions leading to close analysis and original investigation and thought. The aim has been to present the subject in such a way as to cultivate the judgment and not merely the memory. Full directions as to notebook and map work have been given.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 9, 1902.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

SHORTER HOURS AND HOLIDAYS.

EARLY closing and vacations are growing in favor among all classes of merchants, and the booktrade, we are gratified to note, is not backward in the movement. Even those who a few years ago protested that a Saturday half holiday meant the jeopardizing of the profits of the year, are enthusiastic over early closing all the year around excepting, of course, in the holiday season.

There is no doubt as to the benefit of closing early in the evening to both the merchant and his assistants. Especially during these dog days it is most desirable to remove the strain as early as possible, and to enable the clerks to get out into the open air, and to obtain that change and recreation that will make them better workmen in the morning. The same rule applies with equal force to the employer. Nothing is more dangerous than trying to work all the time. The very intensity of a man's ambition to get on may keep him back. A bow that is bent constantly loses its elasticity; hence, every one should put a layer of pleasure, of genuine recreation, into his life at certain periods of the year.

And no time of the year offers such an opportunity for rest and recreation to the bookseller as the summer. The bulk of his business must be done during the winter, and long hours are required to care for the trade. With the advent of summer, publishing lags, retail business quiets down, and less strenuous efforts are required to keep up with the trade that remains or may be worked up. Many employers have recognized this, and while there has been no canvass of the matter, so far as we are aware, in many of the larger cities—and our remarks apply chiefly to these—the trade almost with one accord has closed its stores at five o'clock every evening during the summer, and at one o'clock on Saturday afternoons. Vacations of a week or longer have also become commoner this year than ever before, both with the employer and his clerks, to the decided benefit and improvement of all concerned.

In all this we note an encouraging sign. While there is a sound business reason for shorter hours and more frequent holidays, it is undoubtedly true that as the world grows older employers have more regard for the happiness and welfare of those who serve them.

PAPER FROM OAT HULLS.

AN important test in the manufacture of strawboard and paper has just been concluded at the Gas City plant of the Western Strawboard Company, at Richmond, Ind. The process, according to the New York Times, which will mean much in the future manufacture of strawboard, is the converting of oat hulls into paper. This is something that has long been considered by the manufacturers of paper, but the man who has been conducting the tests is the first to hit upon a successful process.

Oat hulls are very similar in organic composition to the straw used in the manufacture of paper, but some slight difference in the two has made the use of the hulls hitherto impossible. The new process overcomes the difficulty and by it paper and board can be made equal in quality to that made from straw and old paper.

The above report moves a contemporary to think that tenui musam meditamus avena of the Eclogue—Sydney Smith's "we cultivate literature on a little oatmeal"—may have a new meaning for the innumerable new verse smiths of this age; and that "we write poetry on this oat-hull paper" may be the proper translation of the Virgilian phrase.

FROGS' SKINS FOR BOOKBINDINGS.

In the Philadelphia Terminal market recently, according to the Philadelphia Record, a dealer in all kinds of game said that the skins of frogs, if carefully removed and cured, have some slight value. They are used, it seems, in bookbinding; not in general bookbinding, but in the fantastic, "precious" sort—used, in a word, as chicken skin was used in fan making in the time of Carlo Van Loo. Frogskin makes a very fine and soft leather, and in dyeing it will take the most delicate colors. Hence it is inlaid, in circles and stars for centrepieces, into the calf or the crushed levant of sumptuous book covers, and it makes a very striking and beautiful decoration. A noted English binder has achieved some of his best effects by the judicious employment of frogskin as a decorative agent.

A WESTERN LIBRARY MEETING.

A MEETING of librarians, trustees, and all others of the west and middle west interested in library work, will be held at the State Historical Library Building, at Madison, Wis., on August 28, 29 and 30, 1902. "Public Documents," "The Relation of the Publisher to the Public," "The Bookseller and the Librarian," "The Book Review—Its Worth and Worthlessness," "The Relation of the City Government to Boards of Library Trustees," "The Local, Untrained Applicant vs. Trained Service," "Principles of Book Selection by Book Committees," "The Establishment of Branches, Stations and the Extension of Library Privileges to Rural Communities," are some of the topics to be discussed. "Library Architecture" will be the subject of the morning session on August 30, and an exhibit of library plans by prominent architects will be made.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

VIRGINIA BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION.

A RELATED report of the annual meeting of the Virginia Booksellers' Association, held in Richmond, Va., June 26 and 27, has just reached us. From this report we gather that since the organization of the association there has probably been no better meeting or more enthusiastic and earnest attendance than was manifested this year. The position in regard to the handling of school books that the booksellers of Virginia will be forced to take, unless an organized effort is made to prevent it, made each member realize the importance of co-operation; hence the trade of Norfolk, Portsmouth, Danville, Richmond, Charlottesville, Staunton, Roanoke, Newport News and Petersburg was fully represented, and cheering letters were received from the absentees, as well as from the American Publishers' Association and from the American Booksellers' Association.

The Association has made a contract with a number of publishers, with the approval of the Superintendent of Education, to provide for the prompt supply of school books for the schools of every county of Virginia.

Resolutions in memory of the late Montgomery West, one of the organizers of the Association, were passed.

The following new members were elected: Anderson Brothers, of University of Virginia; A. W. Morton and James E. Abbe, of Newport News; Moose Brothers Company, of Lynchburg; and Caldwell-Sites Co., of Bristol.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: T. S. Beckwith, president; C. R. Cadwell, vice-president; and J. O. Boatwright, secretary and treasurer. The Executive Committee consists of the officers and R. J. Alfriend, C. W. Hunter and A. C. Brechin.

The next annual meeting is to be held at Charlottesville unless two-thirds of the members express a desire for some other place. The question in regard to the new adoption to take place next May, after much discussion was left in the hands of the Executive Committee with power to act.

OBITUARY NOTES.

FRIEDRICH PUSTET, senior member of the firm of Fr. Pustet & Co., of New York and Cincinnati, publishers of Catholic books and dealers in church goods, died at Ratisbon, or Regensburg, Bavaria, August 4, aged seventy. The present house of Fr. Pustet & Co. was founded at Regensburg by the father of Mr. Pustet in 1826 under the firm name of Friedrich Pustet. The first American branch was established in New York in 1865, and another, in Cincinnati, in 1867, and an Italian branch was established in Rome in 1899. Mr. Pustet was a Knight of the Order of St. Gregory the Great, and was printer to the Holy See and to the Sacred Congregation of Rites.

MRS. ELIZABETH DREW BARSTON STODDARD, the wife of Richard Henry Stoddard, died August 1, at her home, 329 East Fifteenth Street, New York. Mrs. Stoddard was born at Mattapoisett, Mass., on Buzzard's Bay, May 6, 1823, and was married to Mr. Stoddard in 1852 in New York, which had since been her home. She herself was a poet and novelist of repute. Her verses were for the most part contributed to periodicals, although in 1883 a collection of them was published by the Scribners. During the Civil War Mrs. Stoddard wrote three novels—"The Morgesons" (1862), "Two Men" (1865), and "Temple House" (1867). All are studies of New England life and character. She also wrote a book for young people entitled "Dolly Dink's Doings." Lately a new edition of her works was published by Henry T. Coates & Co., of Philadelphia, with an introduction by Edmund Clarence Stedman, her friend, and her husband's. Mr. Stoddard, who survives his wife, is also advanced in age and infirm. The illness of his wife has been a severe strain upon him, but it is hoped that he will not break down under his bereavement. Lorimer Stoddard, the son of the couple, died last year, and since then Mrs. Stoddard's decline in health has been steady.

LYNDS EUGENE JONES, who, under the direction of Mr. F. Leyboldt, compiled "The American Catalogue" for 1876, died at his home, 47 Brevoort Place, Brooklyn, N. Y., August 3. Mr. Jones was born in Brooklyn, in 1853. After passing through the public schools he entered the New York Free Academy, now the College of the City of New York, from which he was graduated in 1873, when he received an appointment in the New York evening schools. From 1874 to 1875 he was connected with the editorial staff of the New York Evening Mail, and in 1875 he became associated with Mr. Leyboldt in the work upon "The American Catalogue." In 1883 he became Curator of the New York Art Students' League, which position he held until 1887. In 1887 he took an editorial position in the New York house of George Routledge & Sons, which he resigned in 1891 to become librarian of the Century Association. For two years, from 1893 to 1895, he was business manager of The Art Amateur, and from 1896 to 1897 he was connected with the publishing house of Selmar Hess. In 1897 he became senior member of the Board of Examiners of the Civil Service Commission of New York. In this important position he earned the respect and confidence of all acquainted with his work, which was of a peculiarly delicate and important nature. His alert intelligence, sound judgment, entire fairness and constant fidelity made his service of the highest value in the establishment and application of the merit system. In private life he was singularly simple and loyal, and his death will be sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends. Besides his work on "The American Catalogue" Mr. Jones was joint editor of "Books of All Time," published by Mr. Leyboldt in 1881; "The Best Reading," published by G. P. Putnam's Sons in 1883, 1888 and 1892; "History of United States for Young People," published by George Routledge & Sons, in 1889; "Tabular Views of History," and "Outdoor Sports for Boys and Girls," both published by George Routledge & Son, in 1890; and American editor of "Men and Women of the Time," since 1884. He was also the author of the articles on Booktrade, Bibliography and Libraries in the American supplement to the "Encyclopædia Britannica."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Evangelist, one of the oldest Presbyterian weeklies in the United States, has been absorbed by Christian Work, and will hereafter be published under the title of Christian Work or the Evangelist. The Rev. Dr. Joseph Newton Hallock, the proprietor, will act as editor-in-chief.

WITH the July number The Edinburgh Review concludes the 100th year of its publication. Sydney Smith, Francis Jeffrey, Lord Brougham and Francis Horner were the chief writers at the start, Jeffrey editing it for twenty-six years. Among the best-known of its contributors were Carlyle, Napier, John Stuart Mill, Thackeray, Macaulay, Bulwer-Lytton and George Henry Lewes. The October issue will contain an article dealing with the whole history of the Review, together with some portraits.

THE first number of the first Japanese newspaper printed from movable type east of San Francisco made its appearance in New York City on the 2d inst. It is entitled New York Shu Ho, or, New York Japanese weekly. Goroku Ikeda is the editor and proprietor. This is not strictly the first journal in which the two thousand Japanese in and about New York have been able to read the news in their own language, but it is the first to be printed from type. Hajime Hoshi's paper, the Nichi-Bai, or, Japanese-American Weekly, is written out with a brush on lithographic stones, and printed off by hand.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

METHUEN & CO., London, have in preparation a new humorous story by Anstey Guthrie, entitled "A Bayard from Bengal."

LOUIS BOTHA, with the help of Generals De Wet and De La Rey, will write the history of the Boer War from the Boer point of view.

THE BLUE SKY PRESS, Chicago, will publish shortly Browning's "In a Balcony," with an introduction by Laura McAdoo Triggs, and designs by W. A. Dwiggins and F. W. Goudy.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish shortly a book entitled "Lady Beatrix and the Forbidden Man: A Girl's Diary." It is a satire on contemporaneous British society. Some of the material has already appeared in Vanity Fair.

JOHN S. BROOKS & CO., 120 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass., will publish shortly a novel entitled "Stillman Gott, Farmer and Fisherman," by Edwin Day Sibley, a story of real life along the coast and in the woods of Maine.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, New York, will publish a second and concluding volume of the Rev. J. J. Lanier's work on the "Kingship of God and Man," under the title of "The Master Key." This and the author's previous volume form a comprehensive study of biological theology on fresh and very suggestive lines.

BENEDICT PRIETH, 75 Market Street, Newark, N. J., has just published an Arcadian romance, entitled "The Natural Man: a romance of the Golden Age," by J. William Lloyd, author of "Dawn Thought and Wind Harp Songs." The book has been printed under the direction of Frank B. Rae, Jr., at the Alwil Shop, Ridgewood, N. J.

E. P. DUTTON & CO. have just ready "An Anthology of Victorian Poetry," by Sir Mountstuart E. Grant Duff. They will publish shortly a new edition of the Rev. Alexander Dyce's "Glossary to the Works of William Shakespeare," with new notes by Harold Littledale, professor of English of the University College of South Wales and Monmouthshire.

AT Puttick & Simpson's, London, there was sold to an American collector, on July 16, a copy of Tennyson's "Poems by Two Brothers," uncut and in the original boards, for £39; also, a copy of that rare Lamb item,

"Prince Dorus, or, Flattery Put Out of Countenance," 1811, in the original covers, uncolored plates, that was secured by an American for the record price of $62.

THE BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY will bring out in September a new and revised edition of "One Thousand Fungi," by Charles McIlvaine. Though this edition will be published at a popular price, it will contain all the color plates, engravings and etchings of the expensive Author's edition, and will be supplemented with the more recent investigations of the author.

THE NUSBAUM BOOK AND ART CO., at the corner of Granby Street and Brook Avenue, Norfolk, Va., have made up an attractive window display of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" that is attracting a great deal of attention. The window shows Mrs. Wiggs, as natural almost as life, in the centre of a real cabbage patch, and distributed among the cabbages are copies of the book.

HENRY S. ALLEN, well known to the trade through his connection with the firms of Leavitt & Allen, Allen Brothers and George W. Carleton, who retired from business some time ago, is tiring of play and desires to get back into a position where his knowledge of the book business in all its branches may be utilized. Any one desiring to communicate with Mr. Allen may address him at Stamford, N. Y., his summer home.

DREXEL BIDDLE, Philadelphia, announces a religious romance entitled "On the Cross—a romance of the Passion Play at Oberammergau," by Wilhelmine von Hillern and Mary J. Safford; also, "Her Lord and Master," by Martha Morton, a book full of smart dialogue and interesting characters that contrasts the freedom and lack of restraint in our American ways with the severe, tight-laced customs of the aristocratic English.

GEORGE W. SHERMAN, Lynbrook, N. Y., has just published "The Life of Captain Jeremiah O'Brien, of Machias, Me.," by the Rev. A. M. Sherman. It is a well written account of an interesting and prominent character in the Revolutionary War, and throws much light on the methods and manners of that interesting period in our national history. A feature of the work is the introduction written by former secretary of the navy, John D. Long, who is thoroughly conversant with the subject treated by Mr. Sherman.

JAMIESON-HIGGINS COMPANY, Chicago, have in preparation "Tales from Longfellow," by Molly K. Bellew, with illustrations by Ike Morgan; "Dickens's Christmas Stories for Children," by Molly K. Bellew, with illustrations by H. S. Campbell; also, "A Round Robin," a collection of stories, poems, anecdotes, etc., for children, by Mary Hartwell Catherwood, Margaret Sangster, Peter Dunne, Alfred Henry Lewis, etc., edited by Laura Dayton Fessenden, and illustrated by Ike Morgan.

A LONDON publisher, according to the New York Times, recently made the following remark in a conversation, and is said to have repeated what is to be heard in all London literary circles: "Five out of every six novels published barely pay; three out of every six are absolute failures. The finding of new authors is a gamble, and a very risky gamble, and half the known writers have a dwindling and inconsiderable public. It is becoming more and more common for the sums paid on account of royalties when a book is bought never to be earned."

WILLIAM ABBATT, of New York, will have ready early in November a new and enlarged edition of Winthrop Sargent's "Life and Career of Major John André." The volume will contain twenty illustrations, including portraits of Honora Sulyd, Anna Seward, General Grey, Colonel Musgrave, two of André, and Mr. Sargent himself. There will also be facsimiles of two very interesting letters—one by André, hitherto unpublished, and one by Edward Shippen, the father of Mrs. Arnold. The edition will be limited to 500 copies at $8 and 75 copies on large paper at $15.

GINN & Co. are publishing M. de Bloch's "The Future of War," with W. T. Stead's "free rendering" of conversations which he had with the author, and an introduction by Edwin D. Mead, telling of his meeting with M. de Bloch in London last year. Mr. Ginn's purpose in issuing this book is not mercantile. It was issued nearly three years ago, and is already familiar to those who would naturally read it. It is his hope that the work in this form will direct public opinion toward peace. The book is sold at a price precluding much profit and is really Mr. Ginn's contribution to the cause of peace.

WILLIAM J. BELL, the business manager of the OFFICE OF THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, met with a serious accident on his way home on Saturday evening, August 2. In crossing one of the temporary bridges over the subway excavations near the City Hall he stepped on a plank that gave way and precipitated him into the pit thirty feet below. When taken to the Hudson street branch of the New York Hospital it was found that he had broken one and dislocated another of the lumbar vertebrae. As we go to press Mr. Bell is still alive and conscious, but his condition is declared by the doctors to be most critical, and we can only hope that in some way his life may be saved.

CHAPMAN & HALL, London, will commence in September the publication of their new Biographical edition of the "Works of Charles Dickens," which is intended to be a library edition at a popular price. It will be complete in eighteen volumes, containing all the original illustrations, which have been specially reproduced for this edition from the original plates. The biographical introductions are founded upon material in the hands of Chapman & Hall, (who are the owners of Dickens's copyrights,) and will aim at giving the story of each book, and its place in its author's life, briefly and sympathetically. All bibliographical and will be avoided, the object being to provide an interesting narrative, unencumbered by machinery. The volumes will appear two a month, in their chronological order. The binding is to be a special feature, with a full gold back designed by W. B. Macdougall, and delicate end-papers to match.

DODD, MEAD & CO. have in preparation the second volume of Professor George Saintsbury's "History of Criticism," which has been extended so that it will require a third volume to complete the work. The first volume presented an account of the higher rhetoric and poetry, the theory and practice of literary criticism and taste, during ancient and mediæval times; the second volume deals with the matter from the Renaissance to the death of eighteenth century classicism, and the third volume will be on modern criticism. They also announce a new book by Ian Maclarens, entitled "The Homely Virtues," in which Dr. Watson treats practical subjects in a very pointed and practical way; "The American Idea as Expounded by American Statesmen," a collection of typical documents, such as the Declaration of Independence, Washington's Inaugural Address, etc., made by Joseph B. Gilder, with an introduction by Andrew Carnegie; "The Autobiography of a 'Newspaper Girl,'" by Elizabeth L. Banks, author of "Campaigns of Curiosity," whose experience in newspaper work is said to be varied and interesting; also, "Red-Head," a new novel by John Uri Lloyd, who, in drawing the picture of a Kentucky feud, introduces one of the characters from his "Stringtown on the Pike." Mr. Lloyd's story will be illustrated as a Christmas book by Reginald Birch, every page being decorated in color.

HENRY HOLT & CO. evidently do not believe in the decline of the demand for books in series, or for historical fiction, as is evidenced in their announcement of a scheme which they have long had under consideration, of a uniform series of reprints of standard historical novels. They expect the co-operation of an English house famous for its success with several series of books selected and made with extraordinary taste and discretion. The Standard Historical Novels Series will naturally include the old stand-bys, such as Bulwer's "Last Days of Pompeii," Kingsley's "Hypatia," Bulwer's "Harold," Scott's "Ivanhoe," George Eliot's "Romola," Scott's "Quentin Durward," Reade's "The Cloister and the Hearth," Mrs. Charles's "Schönberg-Cotta Family," Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter," Thackeray's "Henry Esmond," Cooper's "Spy," Dickens's "Tale of Two Cities," and if encouragement is received probably, with others, most of the following: Ebers's "Egyptian Princess" and "Uarda," Flaubert's "Salammbo," Lockhart's "Valearius," Newman's "Callista," Fouqué's "Thiodolf the Icelander," Scheffel's "Ekkehard," Kingsley's "Hereward the Wake," Scott's "Talisman," Jane Porter's "Scottish Chiefs," Bulwer's "Rienzi," Kingsley's "Westward Ho," DeVigny's "Cinq Mars," Thackeray's "Virginians," Victor Hugo's "93." So far as practicable, the series will present a somewhat systematic general view of history. Enough editorial matter will be given to afford a notion of the author and of the historical relations of the work.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. will publish next month a Riverside edition of the complete works of Bret Harte in sixteen volumes; an edition of the complete works of Clara Louise Burnham, in fifteen volumes; a new Way-side edition of Hawthorne's complete works in twelve volumes; a Riverside edition of Tennyson's poetical works in seven volumes; a re-issue of William Vaughn Moody's dramatic poem, "The Masque of Judgment;" a holiday edition of "Japanese Girls and Women," by Alice M. Bacon, with twelve exquisite colored illustrations and numerous outline drawings, by a distinguished Japanese artist; the first volume of "The Argive Heraeum," an archaeological work of great importance and value, giving the results of the latest excavations in Argolis, edited by Professor Charles Waldstein, adequately illustrated; "Eternalism: a Theory of Infinite Justice," by Orlando J. Smith, a stimulating argument for the pre-existence of the soul; "American Navigation," a review of the rise and decline of the American marine, by William W. Bates; the thirteenth and fourteenth volumes, completing the work, of Professor Sargent's monumental work on "The Silva of North America;" a new handy-volume edition of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes's "Breakfast Tables Series," in four volumes; "A Book of Nature Myths," by Florence Holbrook, stories for children explaining everyday facts of life which will recall Kipling's "Just-So Stories;" "A History of English Literature," a text-book for high schools, by Professor William E. Simonds, of Knox College; "Masterpieces of Greek Literature," edited by Professor T. D. Seymour; "Masterpieces of Latin Literature," edited by Dr. G. J. Laing; Longfellow's "Hiawatha," dramatized by Florence Holbrook, in the Riverside Literature Series; also, the following books for young people: "The Flag on the Hilltop," a boy's story of war times in southern Illinois when "copperhead" plots were rife, by Mary Tracy Earle; and "Lois Mallet's "Dangerous Gift," the tale of a Quaker girl whose beauty cost her dear, by Mary Catherine Lee.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—John S. Brooks & Co. is the name of a new firm of publishers who have established themselves in the Walker Building, at 120 Boylston Street, for the purpose of publishing a general line of books. They write us that it is their intention to make all books bearing their imprint as good as skilled labor can make them. "We are starting out on the principle that it is a poor book that requires a good cover to make it sell, but that it is a poorer publisher who, given a good book, does not put it in a good binding and print it on good paper in clear, legible type."

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—Dr. J. P. Webb, well known to the western stationery trade, committed suicide by shooting himself in Springdale, Ark., on July 24. Dr. Webb was formerly the head of the firm of Wilson & Webb, stationers, of this city.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trads subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five non-parcel lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonparcel line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonparcel line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

IN ANSWERING, PLEASE STATE EDITION, CONDITION, AND PRICE, INCLUDING POSTAGE OR EXPRESS CHARGES.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS, Publishers, 37-41 East 18th St., New York

SUCCESSFUL publisher is one who constantly seeks to get the best value for the least money. That's why I am a successful bookbinder. Also because I turn out the highest grade of work at from ten to twenty-five per cent. less than anyone else. How do I do it? That is the burning question amongst the trade to-day.

My answer is, "Don't ask the why and the therefore," but send me your stamps and dummies and I will make up samples which will show the highest character of work and upon which I will give you estimates that cannot be met. My equipment and plant is the finest and one of the largest of its kind in the country. Large output and small profits are the keystones to my success. Don't take my word for these statements. Come and see for yourself.

ADVANCE NOTES—A. C. McCLURG & CO.

FOR the information of the trade, we take pleasure in giving herewith some advance data about our Fall books of 1902, which we believe will be of interest. Our list will include seventeen titles, and in matter and make-up it will be the most generally attractive line we have ever put out.

Our most noteworthy undertaking is the new trade edition of "The Expedition of Lewis and Clark." In two square octavo volumes of over 500 pages each, printed from new type of a large clear face, on fine laid paper, with new photogravure portraits and fac-simile maps, and with an introduction by Dr. James K. Hosmer and a copious index, this will undoubtedly take its place as the standard popular edition of Lewis and Clark. (In box, $5.00 net.)

Probably the most beautifully embellished book we have ever issued will be "The Birds of the Rockies." The text is by Leander S. Keyser, the well-known author of "In Bird Land," and the pictorial features include eight full-page plates, four of which are in color, by the eminent nature painter, Louis Agassiz Fuertes, thirty-three charming text illustrations by Bruce Horsfall, and eight full-page scenic plates from photographs. The binding and printing of the book are strikingly attractive. (In box, $3.00 net.)

In response to repeated requests from the trade, we have prepared an elegant illustrated edition of Max Müller's "Memories"—a classic which has now reached a sale with us of nearly 40,000 copies. The book will be a handsome square octavo, and is printed from entirely new plates, with eight beautiful charcoal drawings and other pictorial embellishments by Blanche Ostertag. The cover, also designed by Miss Ostertag, is unique. (In box, $2.00 net.)

Our fiction will include a volume of clever stories of Chicago business life by Will Payne, called "On Fortune's Road," with illustrations by Thomas Fogarty ($1.50); a spirited and exciting historical novel, "The Holland Wolves," illustrated in a highly dramatic manner by the Kinneys (illustrators of "The Thrall of Leif the Lucky") ($1.50); an illustrated edition of the popular romance of Indian Oregon, "The Bridge of the Gods," with eight strong pictures by the well-known western artist, L. Maynard Dixon ($1.50), and "A Captive of the Roman Eagles," a historical romance by Felix Dahn, translated from the German by Mary J. Safford ($1.50).

A unique volume in typography, binding, and illustrations is "In Argolis," by Mr. George Horton, a delightful personal account of family life in Greece ($1.75 net). Another admirable gift book, especially for music lovers, is Mr. George P. Upton's "Musical Pastels," a series of essays on quaint and curious musical subjects, illustrated from rare wood engravings (In box, $2.00 net).

Mr. Upton has also added to his well-known series of musical handbooks a new volume on "The Standard Light Operas," which will be widely popular ($1.20 net). Mr. William Morton Payne has followed his "Little Leaders" and "Editorial Echoes" with "Various Views" ($1.00 net), and the popular "Helpful Thoughts Series" will have a new volume, "Catch Words of Cheer," by Sara A. Hubbard (80 cts. net).

In regard to our Juveniles we have no hesitation in saying that the trade has seldom been offered so attractive a line in matter and make-up. A notable feature of several volumes will be illustrations in color, and the cover designs are novel, artistic, and striking. The titles include a most engaging book of nonsense by Carolyn Wells, "The Pete and Polly Stories," with irresistible pictures by Fanny Young Cory ($1.50 net); "Little Mistress Good Hope," a volume of fairy stories by Mary Imlay Taylor, with notable colored drawings by Jessie Willcox Smith ($1.50 net); "Mayken," a historical story of Holland, illustrated by the Kinneys ($1.20 net); two volumes of delightful fairy stories with charming illustrations in color by Lucy Fitch Perkins: "Coquo and the King's Children," by Cornelia Baker ($1.50 net), and "Prince Silver Wings," by Edith Ogden Harrison ($1.75 net). Mrs. Harrison is the wife of Mayor Carter H. Harrison of Chicago, and in this volume she makes a graceful literary debut.
